DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pracht (US 4,081,384). Pracht teaches the manufacture of a polyester by reacting a halide of a carboxylic acid and a phenolic compound (Column 7, Lines 46+). More specifically, the reference suggests the use of adipoyl dichloride (halide of carboxylic acid) and resorcin (phenolic compound) and such a reaction is seen to be consistent with the manufacture of the claimed compound (see Paragraph 28 of original disclosure). One of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have found it obvious to react the specific components noted above to form the claimed compound in view of the general disclosure of Pracht and applicant has not provided a conclusive showing of unexpected results to establish a criticality for the claimed compound. Also, the claim language "adhesion improver" does not distinguish the claimed compound from that described by Pracht.

As to claim 10, the reaction appears to be analogous to that of the claimed invention and as such, one would expect a compound having the claimed distribution.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 4 of U.S. Patent No.

7,491,840. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the “composition” of US ‘840 can be viewed as the claimed “adhesion improver”. It is emphasized that the claims as currently drafted simply require a composition or adhesion improver including a specific compound and such is disclosed by US ‘840.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-8 and 11 are allowed.
